

UK HE SECTOR OVERALL SURPLUS OF INCOME TO EXPENDITURE £1.1 BILLION

Finances of HE Institutions 2011/12, HESA, 2 May 2013

In the year before the introduction of the new funding arrangements for higher education in England, the sector overall was in a sound financial position, and will remain so in 2012-13.

HEFCE, 15 March 2013

The sector recorded an overall operating surplus of £83 million compared to a forecast surplus of £65 million.

Scottish Funding Council, 10 May 2013

If recruitment from Wales and the rest of the UK is buoyant, there is every reason to presume income to universities can increase.

STRONG ENROLMENT BRINGS CALL TO BOOST SECTOR PAY DEALS

Times Higher, 29 August 2013

Your pay has declined in value by 13% since 2009. That's about £4000 in cash terms for the average member. University leaders expect you to work harder and take home less pay to fund their surpluses.
